

To our valued community,

Mother's Day is this Sunday, May 10, and on this day we are united in the love and respect that we share for the special mothers in our lives. Due to the many changing circumstances presented by COVID-19, celebrating this upcoming Mother's day may require us to make a few adjustments to our usual plans. Options for celebrating may be limited but there are a few simple ways that we can show our appreciation.

Spend some time in the garden

Schedule a video call

Take a walk on a quiet street

Send flowers or a lovely card

As a nation, we have proven our resilience in the face of many challenging circumstances and we will continue to thrive as we work together to flatten the curve.
